

LIFE TERM MURDERERS ESCAPE FROM LOCAL JAIL

Jim Herrell and Tip Long Saw
Through Iron Wall Cell, Take Bricks From Wall Under Window, Get Away

INDICATIONS ARE ESCAPE WAS CAREFULLY PLANNED

Sawing through the sheet iron wall of their cell and making a hole in the brick wall of the jail Tip Long and Jim Herrell, both convicted of murder and sentenced to serve life terms, made their escape from the Middlesboro jail their escape.

The prisoners left the jail about 1 o'clock this morning, according to other prisoners. A mattress torn into strips and tied together was used to make the descent from the upper story to the sand pile on the outside of the building.

An opening about two feet high and perhaps nine inches wide had been cut in the iron wall of the cell occupied by Long and Herrell. How they cut it is still a mystery but it is generally believed that it was sawed. Marks along two sides of the opening indicated that the work had been done recently; along the bottom, however, the place where the sawing had been done was rusty, indicating that it had been done for some time. Soap had been used to deaden the sound of the work.

The cell in which the men were confined is on the northern side of the building. The hole in the brick wall was made on the opposite side of the building. The bricks had been pried loose, apparently by the iron strip cut from the cell, and an opening about the size of the other had been made. No one seems to have heard any of the noise except the other prisoners.

Relatives Visit Long
R. M. Knipps, custodian of the building, says that Mrs. Shell Brady, daughter of Tip Long, visited her father yesterday morning. He says he was near all the time she was talking with him and that no reference was made to an escape. She gave him fifty cents before she left.

Shell Brady, brother of Jess Brady whom Tip Long killed and son-in-law of Long, has been about the building recently and had a car in Middlesboro yesterday. Jail authorities say that he was not at the cell of Long.

J. G. Leabow, Long's attorney, says that his client told him yesterday to defer the filing of the petition for a hearing of his case by the court of appeals for a few days. Mr. Leabow thinks that Long had his escape all planned out then.

There is no doubt that the two men have been working secretly for some time in sawing through the iron wall of the cell. Rusty marks on the sides of the opening are mute but eloquent evidence of long hours of patient work. Before the opening was finally completed the marks could not have been seen from the outside of the cell.

"You simply can't keep men in a jail if you have no night guards," said Chief H. E. Ball. "They have nothing to do in their cell but plan and contrive at means of escape. All prisoners on serious charges should be sent to Louisville where they have a jail that will hold them."

Rewards For Capture

Immediately after the jail delivery was discovered, nearby towns were notified. R. M. Knipps has offered a reward of $100 each for the capture of the prisoners. No clues as to the direction they took when they left jail have been found. Their foot prints led down to the canal banks and there all trace was lost.

Tip Long was convicted during the March term of criminal court here of the murder of Jess Brady, his son-in-law.

The jail delivery created no little excitement here this morning. A crowd gathered around the jail to see the jagged hole which the escaping prisoners had left in the wall. Work of repairing the damaged building began today.

Paris Martin and John Rooney, also held on murder charges, had the opportunity to escape with Long and Herrell but declined. They are kept on the same floor with the two escaping prisoners and the cells are not locked. They were also there when the last jail delivery was made here several months ago.

PLAN DINNER FOR DR. WORK PARTY TOMORROW NIGHT

Secretary of Interior and Wife, Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Matthews and Chancellor Hill to Be Week-end Visitors Here

DR. WORK SPEAKS AT L. M. U. SUNDAY NIGHT

About seventy reservations have been made for the dinner to be given tomorrow night for Dr. Hubert Work, Secretary of the Interior, and Mrs. Work, Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Matthews and J. Wesley Hill, all of Washington. These distinguished guests will be in Middlesboro over Saturday and Sunday while attending commencement exercises at Lincoln Memorial University.

The dinner to be given for them is under the auspices of the Kiwanis Club. A committee from that organization is in charge, composed of C. A. Blackburn, R. L. Maddox and F. R. Whalin. Kiwanians and their wives and invited guests will composed the dinner. The program has not yet been decided upon.

Whether Dr. Work has any other reason for coming to the mountains than to take part in the L. M. U. commencement program is not known, but it is generally thought that he will look over the proposed national park site at Cumberland Gap with an idea of reporting on it to the Interior department. This may be an official or unofficial investigation. Certain it is that Dr. Work's favorable recommendation will do more to secure the park than any other one thing.

Dr. Work and party will be entertained in Knoxville tomorrow by the Knoxville Chamber of Commerce. They will arrive here tomorrow evening. He will speak at L. M. U. Sunday night. Dr. J. Wesley Hill who is chancellor of the University, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class Sunday morning.

ONLY ROUTINE BUSINESS FOR SCHOOL BOARD LAST NIGHT

Only the routine business came before the meeting of the educational board which was held in the office of Supt. J. W. Bradner last night. The regular monthly bills were read and ordered paid. All members of the board were present except P. T. Colgan and Robert Lyons. The session was brief and the meeting was adjourned when the routine business was over.

MAN AND GIRL SHOT AT ROCKY BRANCH IN SERIOUS CONDITION

Miss Mary Johnson and Carter Howard, who were shot and wounded at Rocky Branch coal office on Puckett's Creek Wednesday evening, are still both in serious conditions. They were brought to Wilson Hospital at Pineville where they are now.

The rumor that the two were shot by Howard's young daughter instead of by his wife was discredited in Pineville where it was positively affirmed that Mrs. Howard did the shooting.

MINERS WILL NOT ACCEPT WAGE CUT

John L. Lewis Says American Miners "Out of Habit of Accepting Wage Reductions"

By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, May 4.—Wage cuts will not be accepted by miners of the United States when the present contracts expire. John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers said today on returning from a tour of mining districts in Europe. That is final, he said, adding "miners of America are out of the habit of accepting wage reductions."

STRIKE OF ATLAS MINERS HAS ABOUT RUN COURSE

The miners' strike at Atlas coal mines, Capito, which has been in effect the past few days, has about run its course and the miners will go back to work today or tomorrow, according to information given out at the mine office this morning. The strike was caused, it is reported, by trouble over the discharge of one of the men, and had no bearing on the momentous question of hours and wages to which strike was commonly attributed.

"GREEN STOCKINGS", SENIOR CLASS PLAY, TO BE GIVEN TONIGHT

They're Green!
So we are told by members of the cast of "Green Stockings", three-act comedy-drama which will be presented by the M. H. S. seniors at the auditorium tonight. Ticket sales have thus far been successful and it is thought that the auditorium will be almost, if not entirely, filled by 8:15 o'clock tonight.

The scenery for the play was arranged today. The setting is quite up to the average of stage plays. Final rehearsals was had today and indications are that the play will be a success. Tickets are fifty cents each except to pupils and teachers who are charged only thirty-five cents.

CHRISTIAN REVIVAL SERVICE BEGINS AT 7:15 TONIGHT

"The Little Man With the Big Job" will be the sermon subject of Evangelist Joel Lee Jones at the Christian church tonight. The service will be brief, beginning at 7:15 o'clock and ending at 8, in order to give members of the congregation time to get to the high school auditorium where "Green Stockings", the high school play, begins at 8:15.

"Buried, Dead or Alive" was the sermon subject last night. The evangelist explained that baptism by immersion is the true form, that this was the form used when Christ was baptized.

The house was packed last night, all the seats being taken. The sermon of the evangelist, which was perhaps the most doctrinal discourse he has made, was greatly enjoyed by the congregation. Four additions were made to the church.

CLAIBORNE COUNTY FARM AGENT VISITOR YESTERDAY

C. M. Franklin, Claiborne county farm agent, was in Middlesboro yesterday and paid this office a visit. Mr. Franklin is doing a great work in arousing interest in live stock in Claiborne county through his Pig club and he seemed very enthusiastic over the work he was doing. He spoke in particular about the Semi-Centennial Farmers' Convention, to be held in Knoxville May 22, 23, and 24, and which he urges all farmers who can to attend. The round trip ticket will be one and a half fare to Knoxville at this time.

CHAUTAQUA TO BE HERE MAY 7-10

Four Performances of Highest Class Musical Talent To Be Given Next Week

The Festival Chautauqua of the Piedmont circuit will be in Middlesboro May 7-10. Four performances consisting of Hawaiian music, concerts and comic opera sketches will be given here. The program will be rendered in the high school auditorium.

Vieria's Hawaiian singers and players, a quartette of exceptional ability in its line, will be the attraction for the evening of May 7. These artists have made records for all the leading talking machine companies and they have been well received in all the other cities.

The Kendree Concert company, a trio of artists, will furnish the entertainment for the second evening. Their broad repertoire includes violin vocal and piano solos, duets and ensemble numbers. The Highland Fling with its attending bagpipes and Scotch plaids will be a feature of their entertainment.

The Tooly Comic Opera company will be here on the third evening presenting a concert composed of operatic arias, duets and trio as well as a cutting from Gilbert and Sullivan's Japanese opera, "The Mikado." The music, mechanical and scenic effects and costuming of the performance are quite up to the light opera standard.

The Galzano Duo, styled as the little company with the big program, comes last on the bill. M. L. Galzano, harpist, and Mrs. Galzano, guitarist and reader, are the members of the company. Their program includes both the classical productions of the mas ters and the more popular selections, their interpretations being equally well received in each.

RUM RUNNERS USE PLANE TO DEFEAT FEDERAL VIGILANCE

Seaplane Transportation Employed to Outwit Government Efforts to Block Landing in Liquor Cargoes

FLEET RUN AWAY YESTERDAY, BACK OFF COAST TODAY

NEW YORK, May 4.—The rum fleet which apparently ran away yesterday in the face of the three-sided attack by government forces has circled back and is lying in extended formation off the coast, the coal guard service announced today. The rum fleet has adopted a seaplane transportation to defeat the efforts of the government to block landing of liquor cargoes, it was announced today by the customs house. Government coast guardsmen reported they surprised a large gray seaplane without identifying its numbers at the side of the rum running yacht. When the yacht's skipper signalled to the plane that the government revenue cutter was approaching, the plane sped quickly away.

DEMOCRATS ASK FOR CONVENTION

To Urge State Executive Committee to Change From Nominating Men For State Offices

LOUISVILLE, May 4.—A committee of five is ready today to present later in the afternoon plans to the Democratic State Executive Committee for a convention to nominate candidates for state offices instead of a primary. The committee is composed of S. Y. Trimble of Hopkinsville, Judge I. H. Thurman, of Springfield, Mrs. M. L. Hall, of Shelbyville, John M. Atherton and Attila Cox of Louisville. United States Senator Stanley is here as an outlooker. He said he did not doubt nominations would be made by primary but indicated that he was not taking a stand either way.

CITY WAGONS NOT AVAILABLE TO HAUL GARBAGE THIS WEEK

Assures Major Helburn He Is Ready to Resign as Attorney-General and Start Active Campaign—Raney to Be Manager

REPORT COLVIN WILL AN- NOUNCE CANDIDACY TODAY

That Attorney-General Charles I. Dawson will formally announce his candidacy for Republican nomination for governor within the next few days was confirmed by local Republican leaders today after press reports to this effect were received here. Major E. S. Helburn, who returned yesterday from Louisville, says that he talked with Dawson while in Louisville and that the latter assured him he would make formal announcement in a day or two. He also said he would immediately resign his position as attorney-general and go to work full force campaigning for the nomination. Major Helburn also confirmed the report that Insurance Commissioner Raney would become Dawson's campaign manager.

By Associated Press

LOUISVILLE, May 4.—One of the managers for George Colvin, state superintendent of public instruction, said Colvin would announce for governor today. It was also said here today that Attorney General Dawson would make announcement of his intentions in connection with his candidacy for governor within a few days.

By Associated Press

LOUISVILLE, May 4.—A report reached here today that James Raney, state insurance commissioner, would resign and become campaign manager for Attorney-General Dawson in Dawson's race for governor.

FRANKFORT, May 4.—Attorney-General Charles I. Dawson will resign and announce his candidacy for the Republican nomination for governor within a week, it was learned from authoritative sources yesterday.

Mr. Dawson said: "I have nothing to say at present about my plans, but will make a definite announcement in regard to my attitude toward the Governor's race in the next few days."

It is understood that Assistant Attorney General Thomas B. McGregor will be appointed day Governor Morrow to succeed Mr. Dawson.

Mr. McGregor was assistant under Attorney General James Breathitt during the administration of Gov. A. E. Wilson.

GENERAL GASOLINE REDUC- TION NOT EFFECTIVE HERE

Though the recent decrease in the price of crude oil has already had the effect of lowering the retail price of gasoline in some cities, it has not affected the local retail market, according to dealers. The high price is still maintained by the two wholesale distributors of this county and it is said that no reduction is expected soon.

Gasoline is selling in Knoxville for twenty-three cents while in Middlesboro it is twenty-eight. Reasons for continuing the high price of wholesale gas here are not known.

A THOUGHT

He that laboreth laboreth for himself; for his mouth travaileth if of him.

We ought to be thankful to nature for having made those things which are necessary easy to be discovered; while other things that are difficult to be known are not necessary.—Epicurus

ANOTHER JAIL DELIVERY

Another Bell county jail delivery last night, this time in Middlesboro! Surely this will be the proverbial "straw that broke the camel's back" and Bell county officials, or citizens, will be aroused to the need of a prison and prison keepers that will assure, when a law violator is entrusted to them that he will stay there.

Only one thing can satisfy the public in this instance, and that is the return of Jim Herrell and Tip Long to prison, if it takes all the officers in the county all summer to find them. Time after time prisoners have made their escape from our county prisons and succeeded in getting entirely away. In the past six or eight months four dangerous murderers and a liquor violator have got away from the Middlesboro jail, and some think like a dozen criminals have made good their escape from the Pineville jail. Presumably little effort was ever made to bring any of them back as few if any have been brought back unless they came of their own accord.

If ever a reform was needed it is in our method of dealing with prisoners. In the first place, our jails are insecure and faulty. This should make vigilance over them the more careful, but instead, doors are left unlocked, inspection is neglected and most surprising of all, a pile of sand is left outside the jail, evidently as a soft landing spot for those prisoners who wish to jump out of the windows onto it. If the jailers' cells had been carefully inspected, regularly, the filing away of the iron in the prisoner's cell would have been discovered before this morning when the bird had already flown.

The second great fault in dealing with our prisoners is the way they are allowed to escape. It is, of course, difficult to get a fugitive after he gets to the mountains, but it is not impossible to get him, as extenuating circumstances in the past have shown. Let us urge upon our officers that this is an extenuating circumstance and that we shall not be satisfied until these men are returned and the persons who helped in their escape are brought to justice.

WHAT KENTUCKY NEEDS

Percy N. Clarke, secretary of the Kentucky Tax Reform Association, in his interesting article in the Courier-Journal opposing a tobacco tax on coal sets forth Kentucky's requirements for prosperity and added population in terms which will bear perhaps a word of constructive interpretation.

What Kentucky needs at the present time is the development of its coal and other mineral properties, its timber and water power, the establishment of more factories and other industries and the utility of its idle farming lands of which, it is reported, there are over 7,000,000 acres, uncultivated, but which could be made to produce something if there were local factories to use the raw materials.

The "development" of timber is, as a result devastation without reforestation now more largely a restoration and protection project than an exploitation project. Much idle land classified as farm land is land stripped of forest and not tilled. A good deal of the deforested and untilled land is valueless or of little value as farm land, but would be valuable under trees. Decrease of population in some counties rated as agricultural has been caused by deforestation. Men who formerly devoted part of their time to farming and part to logging or saw mill work have had to seek a livelihood elsewhere.

Water power development without protection of watersheds from further deforestation would begin under a handicap. Among the factories we need are wood working plants, which could be supplied permanently from protected and productive Kentucky forests.

Even coal development depends somewhat on timber protection. Pennsylvania, which now has a forestry program, permitted destruction of forests, by fire as well as by destructive logging still it became necessary to "import" timber for mine props.

One of Kentucky's greatest resources is her remaining forest land, now largely cut-over land with more or less good second growth timber upon it, but it must be developed as a source of supply of profit.—Louisville Times.

Questions

ONE—Can a base runner advance on a foul fly that is caught?

TWO—If a base runner fails to touch a base, does the umpire pay any attention to the failure, unless an appeal is made?

THREE—What bases must be occu-piated and how many out for the infield fly to be effective?

FOUR—What must be done when a batter hits out of order to penalize the mistake?

FIVE—Has the catcher the right to block off the base runner at the plate?

Answers

ONE—He certainly can if he holds his base until the ball is caught.

TWO—The umpire pays no attention to such an error unless the mistake is observed by the team in the field and an appeal is made.

THREE—First and second, or first, second and third must be occupied and less than two out.

FOUR—The attention of the umpire must be called by the team in the field before a ball is pitched to a succeeding batsman.

FIVE—Only provided he has the ball in his possession, ready to touch the runner.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem ON THE HEIGHTS By Berton Braley

Sooner or later, they say, dear lass,
The terror and fever of love must pass
And the maddest of lovers will settle down

Out in the country or in the town.
To hum-drum living and routine bliss,
And maybe, some day, we'll come to this;

Faithful, loyal through good or ill,
But sensing never a single thrill.

Such is our destiny, so they say,
Such is ever the human way.

For the heart doesn't always maintain a beat

As swift as the thought of you brings me, sweet;

And Time of Youth is a subtle thief
And high romance is a glamor brief

If that be true—and it's doubtless so—
Let's seize our moments before they go.

For now—you're a song on the air
Afloat

A flame in my heart and a catch in my throat,

And all the magic of land or sea
Is your enchantment cast over me

If we must descend from the heights in time,
Well now at least, there are heights to climb!

Let the old world wrinkle its cynical brow.

But oh it's great in the clouds just now!

LETTER FROM SALLY ATHON TO HER FRIEND, BEATRICE GRIMSHAW

DEAR RICE:

I am writing this letter to you because you only of all the people I know are aware of the reason why I decided not to give up my position when I married Sam. You knew that he, like many other men of great talent or business perspicacity, of vision and fascination, was addicted to drink before the prohibition law was passed. I do not think I would ever have married him had not prohibition become a law. It seemed to me that in our circumstances it would be almost impossible for Sam to get very much liquor and I knew he really wanted to break off from the awful stuff.

You have often heard my ideas on the subject and you know that I have always thought it was the agent which led to the most terrible tragedies and the greatest immorality in all the world.

Sam is not unkind, he is not ungentlemanly, he is not impolite even when he has been drinking. But he is not himself. And I am always afraid that he will do something for which he will have to pay to the utmost.

The day after the quarrel of which I wrote you, when Sam came in I noticed that he did not kiss me. I thought it was very strange, but when I made an excuse to get near him I understood. He had been drinking.

J. W. CAMPBELL TELLS U. S. CIVIL WAR EXPERIENCES

The following is taken from an account in a Roanoke Va. paper of a meeting of the Junior Veterans of the Confederacy Wednesday afternoon:

The guest of honor for the afternoon invited by the Juniors from Wm. Watts Camp U. S. V. was Major J. W. Campbell of Kentucky, but now living in Roanoke. He was in the war of 61-65 as a member of Morgan's famous cavalry, having entered the service as a youth at the age of 14. He is a brilliant and entertaining speaker and told in the most glowing terms of the heroism, bravery, suffering and sacrifices even unto death of these noble sons of the Southland. Stories retold of battles well fought, wonderful cavalry charges, camp life long days and nights of weary marching with little

He earned up to it when I accused him, but excused it by saying that his boss had invited him to dinner and that he had had something on his hip. "I could hardly refuse to drink with my boss, could I?" he inquired, somewhat belligerently.

"I wonder if you know," I said to Sam, "that Mr. Watkins would be the first to discharge you if you should do anything reprehensible while under the influence of liquor?"

"Of course I do, my dear, but you see I am not going to do anything reprehensible. You know that, do you not?"

"I think you did something reprehensible, Sam, when you accepted a drink even from your boss. You were both disobeying the laws of your country."

"Oh, come off, Sally, don't be a prude. A man is rather proud of being drunk nowadays. It shows that either he has money himself or has friends who have money."

"And is having money the standard by which you live, Sam?"

"Isn't it yours?" he asked rather satirically.

And then, Sally, I knew that Sam thought I was working outside my home simply to make a little more money, when you know and I know I was only keeping my position for fear that some day Sam will lose his. Am I right or is he?

Dubiously.

SALLY.

TO SOME MODERN POETS

Your names are like decapitated giants bleeding black oblivion;
You are the frail voices.
The indomitable rhythm of beauty writhes under the claws of your pens;
Your eyes are twin candles burning flames of yearning desire toward the high sacred altar of poetry.
All that you sought to attain has eluded you;
You have tried, and your day is passing.
Yet grieve not;
Much that charms is small and fleeting
To the greatness of eternity.
The earth is a tiny shadow tottering on the edge of death;
The moon is a throb of splendor in the heart of night;
And the stars are ephemeral in long gaze of God.
So grieve not
That your poems are the cool, fresh grass of a short Summer.
The flowers are few—Pascal D'Angelo.

Dance Tonight At Hotel Cumberland

A number of out-of-town guests are expected for the dance to be given at the Hotel Cumberland tonight by the Middlesboro Dancing Club. The Virginia Entertainers of Knoxville will furnish the music for the dance which promises to be one of the best of the season.

Class Social Has Good Attendance

About thirty members and visitors were present at the social given by the Kentonville Bible class of the M. E. church South, Sunday school at Kentonville hall last night. After the regular monthly business of the class was transacted the entertainment program was rendered. A feature of this was a mock trial in which the Rev. W. K. McClure was tried for "malicious shooting." Brief talks were made by Rev. McClure and G. J. Humfleet, teacher. Mitchell Cecil, class president, was in charge of the meeting. Refreshments were served by women of the church.

Bible Class Meets Yesterday Afternoon

The M. E. Church, South Bible class met yesterday afternoon at Kentonville Hall. Mrs. M. E. Brown, president of the class, had charge of the business meeting and Mrs. George Pridemore was chairman of the program. The hostesses were Mrs. J. H. McGiboney, Mrs. Thomas Ivey and Mrs. W. L. Lee. The program procedure follows: Minutes reading; prayer, Mrs. O. E. Webster; history of writing of "A Charge to Keep I Have" and sketch of author, Charles Wesley, Mrs. John Owsley, after which the song was sung by the class; report of calls, $2; Bible history, Mrs. Joe Biggestaff; articles on religious discipline, Mrs. L. D. Rouser; doxology sung.

Mrs. F. P. Seales Hostess At Bridge Luncheon

Mrs. F. P. Seales entertained today with a bridge luncheon at her home on Ravenwood Road. The house was decorated with a profusion of spring flowers and baskets of flowers formed the table decorations. About forty guests were invited.

Young Ladies' Class Has Lake Party

The Young Ladies' Class of the M. E. Church enjoyed a trip to the lake Tuesday night. They were chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Johnson and their teacher, Miss Nola Bryant. Starting about 6:30 p. m. they walked over to the lake, where they made a fire on which to cook their supper. Then they spread their supper afterwards they went out on the lake, and after rowing a short time returned home. There were fifteen in the party.

Rose Hill News

On Friday, May 11, from 10:30 a. m. to 4:00 p. m. the Interdenominational Sunday School Convention of Rose Hill District will meet at Chadwell's Station. Mrs. R. G. Crowder, Field Secretary of Virginia Sunday School Association plans to be present that day. Every Sunday School in the district is expected to be represented.

The Horney Bros. Twin Auctioneers will auction, next Thursday, May 10 at 10:30 a. m., the farm of B. F. Kincaid, originally known as A. H. Fulkerson farm. The portion of the farm to be sold will sell in lots and small tracts. A new Ford Touring car and cash prizes will be given away. Music will be furnished by Horney Bros. famous Hawaiian Band.

The farm of E. W. Parrott who died several months ago, will be auctioned on May 9 by the Horney Bros. This farm is several miles east of Rossville. Mrs. Maggie Robertson of Gibson Station spent Tuesday with the Misses McIn.

On Wednesday morning Miss Emma Holly, who is hiking from Spartanburg, S. C. to Detroit, Mich., passed through here. It is understood she will win a prize if she hikes the distance in a limited time.

Mr. Sharpe of Columbus, O., was here Tuesday in the interest of the Ford Agency, which has recently been established here under the name of Rose Hill Motor Co.

Mae Richmond, representative of Belknap Hardware Co., was calling on the merchants here Tuesday afternoon. Frank Rowlette went to Knoxville Wednesday morning to have his tonsils removed. He was also accompanied by his sister, Mrs. F. B. Fugate and Dr. Sumpter.

Miss Corrie Parrott has gone to Middlesboro to have her ear treated as she has been suffering for several days past.

Sam Fulkerson of Louisville, Ky., was calling on his sister, Mrs. D. E. Petree, on Monday.

James Rosenbaum, station agent at Hubbard Springs, was here Monday.

Tazewell Notes

Kleber Chumley entertained a number of his friends at his home, Saturday evening. Games were played and a general good time was had by all. At a late hour delicious refreshments were served.

On Tuesday evening, the Senior Class of Claiborne County High School presented "The Winning of Lataine," at the High School Auditorium. The play was directed by Miss Estelle Pair head of the Domestic Science department of the school.

A young son of James Tolbert fell from a wagon Monday and broke both arms. Dr. M. B. Carr set the fractured limbs. Young Tolbert had just recovered from a broken leg.

A meeting of much interest was held in the Court house on Tuesday by the Pig Club boys of the County. Mr. Eust of Jefferson County, who has the reputation of raising the most Poland China hogs of any man in Tennessee, was present. Some of the club boys bought some pigs from him.

Miss Mayme Parrott, District Agent of the Division of Extension was in Tazewell last week arranging for a "Home and Farm Day" to be held in Tazewell the latter part of June.

Misses Estelle Pair and Jessie Adkins were guests of Miss Marguerite Jones of Harrogate, over the week-end.

Have Hot Water All The Time---

CADET Coil Water HEATER

—Any woman can own a Cadet. The initial cost is low.

—Uses only 1-4 fuel other heaters require.

Cadet is the most inexpensive means to an abundance of hot water every day in the year. It is so much more economical to run than a gas or oil heater. It burns coal and wood.

The water, heated by passing through the coil, is stored up in the tank. Five minutes after the fire is started you will have an abundance of hot water. In 20 minutes the entire tank will be full of piping hot water. The heater is made of the finest grade cast iron, the most durable metal in the world.

It may be installed in the kitchen, basement or laundry.

WOMAN'S CLUB TO USE POWER WHERE MOST EFFECTIVE

State President Says Federation Will Give Mature Consideration to
All Moves Before
Indorsing Any

GIVE RULES TO FOLLOW AT NEXT CONVENTION

By Associated Press

PADUCAH, Ky., May 4.—The Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs will not rush into any movement where it would become the tool of some individual or organization. Mrs. H. G. Reynolds, president, will declare in a statement to appear in the forthcoming edition of the Club Woman. The organization should appear in only such movements or measures as have been taken under mature consideration with a view of doing the most good to the most people. Mrs. Reynolds message to the clubwomen of Kentucky will state.

It is to be taken in the nature of a compliment, the statement continues, that many individuals and organizations are constantly being seized with the original idea that if they can obtain the co-operation of the Federation of Women's Clubs the consummation of their project is assured.

"The Federation, both state and national," the message says "is unique in that its work is not specific or circumscribed as that of various organizations which handle only one or more lines of endeavor. Through innumerable departments the Federation fosters every phase of moral uplift, intellectual attainment and practical achievement. With our great numbers and well oiled machinery, it is not to be wondered that we are most desirable aids, advocates, backers or promoters.

Many Appeals to Women

"It would surprise you if you knew the number and variety of appeals which come to the president of a Federation. Some are subtle, some thinly veiled and some openly candid in their desire to enlist our women in their behalf. We are asked to consider this matter to commend or endorse that one to finance another and to promote entirely many others. All have some merit, some are perfectly legitimate, but unless we are carefully take into consideration all angles of the proposition we are likely to find ourselves lending our name and our influence where no credit can possibly be reflected on either.

We women have to be far more guarded in our public life than ever before. The spot-light which the eighteenth amendment turned on it is rather blinding at times and inclined to cloud our vision as well as that of those who are perhaps a bit over anxious to criticize us.

"We admit that in times past we have been caught napping, on rare occasions, and have ill advisedly lent great strength to projects which were not practical or feasible. We sometime got our cart before our horse in our honest and sincere endeavor to correct political or civic issues, but we defy anyone to prove that we have not always been on the right side of all moral questions.

"We are rapidly learning, however, that always—under all circumstances—there are two sides to every proposition and we can not afford to jeopardize our hard won position by sponsoring, or rejecting any proposition which we have not carefully and seriously considered.

Things to Remember

"Before we come together again, after our Winchester meeting, we shall have faced another legislative session. If we expect to get our recognition from that assembly which we have every right to demand, we have several things to remember.

"First—That we should sponsor only such measures as we have taken under mature consideration and which we know to be for the greatest good of the most peoples.

"Second—That a few things well done, will be provocative of more than a great number in which we have dabbled indifferently.

"Third—That the scope of our work must be broad enough to include other interests than those known as "Woman's work". If we expect the men to be interested in our proposition we must reciprocate with our support to them.

"Fourth—And by far the most important, let us never for one moment lose sight of the fact that we shall have to exert the most constant and diligent care to see that we do not become the tools of individuals or organizations who would like to hide their selfish and perhaps nefarious schemes behind 10,000 women.

"Our Federation is non-political, non-partisan, and non-sectarian. No issue which infringes this standard should be considered by us."

Let us give of ourselves and our organization wholeheartedly to the strengthening of the present Federal, State and Federation laws, and the addition of such as we consider necessary to the advancement of all three but let us guard against the exploitation of our name and our work by whomsoever chooses to put up a plausible plea for our consideration.

With all this in mind let us conduct our coming convention with the vigilance and dignity commensurate with the intelligence of the splendid womanhood of Kentucky.

COOPER BROS. B. SHOW
COMING TO TOWN MAY 9

To those that have reached mature years the coming of the tented shows means simply that they will have several hours keen enjoyment away from the ordinary run of pleasures. But to the youngsters, show day is THE day a red letter day an occasion long to be remembered. You recall with vivid memory, do you not, the very first animal show you ever saw? How you stared round-eyed at those fierce looking animals. And you remember, too, don't you, how those elephants had tails in front and back and how father laughed when you asked him about it? Then there was the mask, of the hands, the wonderful acrobatic feats of the gaily dressed performers, the funny antics of the clowns, all making an indelible impression on your childish mind and transplanting you to a real wonderland.

Many another child will experience these enjoyable impressions on Wednesday, May 9, when the Cooper Bros. Shows will exhibit afternoon and night at Middlesboro. There are many educational features with a large enterprise like the above, the foremost of which in our opinion, is that many a youth has been encouraged to greater achievements along physical lines by noting the results obtained by persistent and continued efforts.

FORD WEEKLY PURCHASE PLAN BIG BOOM TO SELLING CARS

"The Ford Weekly Purchase Plan is going to be a boom to many families and permit them to buy a car much quicker than they ever dreamed," the local Ford dealer said today in discussing the new plan which is creating such widespread comment and which is being enthusiastically received everywhere.

"It is constructive automobile buying in the simplest and easiest form and presents to countless families all over the country the long wished for opportunity of enjoying motor cars benefits and pleasures.

"One of the most appealing features of the Plan is that it is adaptable to the means of practically everyone. The weekly payments, which are deposited to the credit of the customer in the bank and draw interest at the regular savings rate may be fixed to suit the desires of each purchaser. What could be easier than that?"

Pretty soon farmers will be planning parties to make it rain.

SAVING SAVES---BANK BOOK BEATS FAMILY

MACON, Mo., May 4.—When a bride of 12 and a husband of 19 who can $200 a month together, can save half of it to buy a home, there is no good reason for parting them merely because of their youth.

Judge J. D. Walker of the Macon County Circuit Court believes so, and so Mrs. Thelma Spurling's parents are prevented from interfering with the couple's married life.

One of the ways Mrs. Spurling, formerly Thelma Ess, proved to the court she ought to be permitted to remain with her hobby, Henry Spurling, was to exhibit a bank book showing a saving on the part of the two of $100 a month since their marriage.

The girl-wife works in a Des Moines store. Hubby toils for a saddlery company in that city.

A few months after their marriage the bride's mother sought to annul the tie on the ground that the Missouri laws had been violated in the issuance of a license. But Thelma returned to the scene of the conflict and in addition to discomfiting on the love that exists between the two, got down to more material things and showed the bank book.

That settled it.

Remarkable Results From Vegetable Preparation

Dr. J. W. Livingston, in a recent interview, declared the most remarkable result of his forty years' work in the development of remedial preparations is REGENERATOR. It is true that it has quickly spread from Virginia to Texas due to the wonderful benefits obtained by sufferers of Liver and Kidney complaints and blood troubles.

REGENERATOR is a purely vegetable remedy, composed of roots, herbs and barks—all known for their wonderful curative powers. It acts with the soothing effect upon the entire system and is absolutely harmless to the most delicate constitution. It feeds and builds up the body tissues, it enriches the blood supply enabling it to cast off impurities and combat disease.

DR. LIVINGSTON'S
REGENERATOR
THE GREAT NERVE TONIC AND BLOOD PURIFIER

is especially recommended in the treatment of all Liver and Kidney troubles, due to stagnation and accumulated waste in these vital organs. Biliousness, Indigestion, Dizziness, Sick Headache, Constipation, Loss of Appetite and Energy are some of the complaints that result from neglect of these organs and for which you will find REGENERATOR of unequalled benefit. When left to their insidious work these troubles cause impurities to creep into the blood supply, impeding it to such an extent that Rheumatism, Uteric Acid Poison, Eczema, Skin Diseases and other disagreeable troubles arise. REGENERATOR is an essential blood purifier and tonic and to overcome these troubles the blood must be enriched and purified. Your opportunity is here today which enables you to banish these unpleasant associations, to restore your body to a normal and healthy condition. Your opportunity is REGENERATOR. Get it at your leading druggist. Price $1.00 per bottle.

SPECIAL NOTICE—If REGENERATOR cannot be obtained from your regular dealer ask him to order it from his jobber, or it will be sent postpaid by us upon receipt of $1.00. Add—Livingston Medicine Company, Dept. M, Atlanta, Ga.
